Words from Their Excellencies Hrolf and Madelaine

Greetings unto all. It pleases us greatly to announce that we have now are in possession of new Baronial Award tokens. They were hand cast by Lord Erikr the Eager and received and painted by us just in time for the event A Little Bit of Rapier. It gave us great pleasure – and some emotional moments too – to be able to hand out these tokens in Our court at that event. Congratulations to those people who received same.

Our Lochac King Niall and Queen Liadan graced us with Their Presence for A Little Bit of Rapier, and they were well pleased to have that time in Ynys Fawr, it being somewhat of a homecoming for Queen Liadan. Many congratulations to those who received recognitions and awards by Their hand. These were well deserved and it does this Barony proud to see people advancing in the Kingdom. Later that evening, the King and Queen commented that the event was a nicely relaxed and hospitable repose in their extremely demanding schedule for their Reign. Thank you to Lord Declan for stewarding this event and to his helpers, who were also recognised in thanks from the Crown.

We would also like to especially extend our congratulations to the most Excellent Sir Wulfgar in receiving the title of Court Baron. Well done!

As there are many award tokens yet to be painted, we are hoping to conduct a painting-the-awards session with those who are willing and interested to partake, sometime hopefully in October, possibly on a Saturday (if there is one free at this rate of activity!).

We extend also our thanks to those good gentles who sent in recommendations to Us and to the Crown.

We look forward to seeing some of you this weekend and some the weekend after that. How did life get so busy?

Yours, in service to the Barony and the SCA

Rowany Festival 2014

The Festival crew are currently looking at campsite allocation for Rowany Festival 2014 - from the Rowany website and the Festival Facebook page.

A couple of questions that would be good to answer...

How many people are looking at going next year?

Do we want an Ynys Fawr campsite or do people want to camp with household?
Who will act as liaison for the barony if we do want a Festival campsite?
While on the subject of Festival...
How many people are interested in putting together an Ynys Fawr team for the Heraldic Melee?

Dawn Radel suggested advertising on the ABC's Community Notice Board as well.

Dan has read the policy on one of them and is happy for this to happen.

Seneschal: I am fine with both of these but first we need to work out what it is that we would like to say and promote.

Before an Event is advertised in any media, it must be an approved by the Seneschal and must also accompany an approved Event Flyer.

Exclusive Rights

Much like the Loxley Archery Group having exclusive rights to all monies raised at the Burnie-Wynyard Medieval Festival, Ynys Fawr would like to organise exclusive rights to run the Archery and charge a fee at Medieval Mayhem. This has to be done as a non SCA project with all funds raised going to an individual, the individual may then gift it back to the group.

K&D Sausage Sizzle

Kevin Hotson suggested running a sausage sizzle

Dan volunteered Lorix to organise a sausage sizzle at K&D

Hoardward is an annual competition intended to promote and celebrate early period (as in, pre-1000) play within the SCA. Each year's competition has a different theme. The theme for the current theme is "The Life of a Dark Ages Craftsman." This means participants are looking at crafts as practised in the Dark Ages, with a craft being any activity that makes something (such as a wood working, jewellery making, animal husbandry.). The winner is determined by popular acclaim; by the entrants in the competition, and any other interested people. The prize is a Hoard of items as contributed by participants and any interested parties. The competition will be judged at Festival in 2014.

SOUNDS INTERESTING. HOW DO I ENTER?

Participants must make a declaration or "Boast" outlining what craft they intend to look at in their Hoardward entry. They must also make a Pledge to the Hoard, which is the prize.

TELL ME MORE ABOUT THIS PLEDGE, AND THE HOARD.

The Pledges go to make up the Hoard which the winner of the competition receives. This can be any item of beauty, value or usefulness that's related to the pre-1000 period. Think about the sort of things found in historical hoards - jewellery, weapons, beautiful table ware, well-made clothes, or money. Other great pledges would be quality raw materials or tools for crafts (such as beautiful material, furs, a number of natural dyed skeins of wool, or a selection of leatherworking tools), or quality reference books to do with the early period (a pledge for an earlier competition was an archaeological report for a significant Anglo-Saxon cemetery). And if all else fails, a bag of gold coins would be fine for a pledge - historically accurate, and I'm sure gratefully received! Once the winner receives the Hoard, he or she can keep as much of it as they want, or distribute pieces to people who helped in the project or to good friends as he or she sees fit.

HOW IS IT JUDGED?

Participants should produce a crafted item related to their Boast, along with documentation and a presentation. Ideally, this should include reflections on what you learned during your project, and what impact you think your craft would have held in period. Judging will take place towards the end of Festival, and will be judged by the participants of the current competition, along with other interested parties (such as early period-focussed Laurels, or early period players).

Because it's part of Festival, I would strongly encourage participants to teach a collegium at Festival related to the craft they studied - after all, we are supposed to be promoting Early Period play.

CAN I COMPETE IN A TEAM?

As some crafts work better with a team, yes you can. However, you should do an individual submission, because even in a team participants will learn different things during the project. Your individual submission should include an individual item, but this can be related to the items produced by your team mates. And remember, you'll be judged against individual entrants.

HOW DO I MAKE A BOAST AND A PLEDGE?

The Hoard will be at Spring War in Mordenvale, from 4-7 October 2013. You can make your Boast and Pledge there, or send it to Spring War. If you can't make it to Spring War or decide to enter after, you have up to October 20 to get your pledge to me (Leoba of Lecelad). PLEASE NOTE, PROMISSORY PLEDGES WILL NOT BE ACCEPTED unless you get your Pledge to me within two weeks of making your Boast and stating your Pledge.

You can also make your intentions known online - there is a Hoardward Facebook group and website (see below for details). But again, you must arrange to get your actual Pledge to me within two weeks of making the Pledge. The deadline for online declarations is October 20.

I CAN'T COMPETE, BUT THIS SOUNDS LIKE A GREAT IDEA SO I'D LOVE TO CONTRIBUTE SOMETHING TO THE HOARD.

Any contributions of items to the Hoard will be gratefully received, by me and all participants, and whoever wins!

WHERE DO I LOOK FOR MORE INFORMATION?

You can contact me, Leoba of Lecelad, on hoardward@gmail.com, especially if you want to send a Pledge through the post. There is also an active Facebook community at <http://www.facebook.com/groups/143495489062340/> (or just search for Hoardward), where you can officially make a Boast and a Pledge, get advice or share research. Finally, there's a website at <http://hoardward.wordpress.com/>

So let's get Hoardwarding!

Yours in Service,
Leoba of Lecelad
